

About Brooks Rehabilitation

For over five decades, Brooks Rehabilitation has been at the forefront of physical rehabilitation care. Our highly trained clinicians provide the most advanced therapy and medical care, along with the compassion, motivation and hope to help people reach their highest level of recovery. We are recognized as a premier rehabilitation system and ranked among the top 20 nationally by U.S. News & World Report.

Our System of Care

Offering a comprehensive system of care, Brooks provides inpatient and outpatient services, skilled nursing, home health, assisted living and memory care. In addition, we strive to impact lives beyond the clinical setting through community programs designed to enhance the quality of life for individuals with physical disabilities.

The depth of our community programs and services are unique from any other health system in the country. From adaptive sports to our Aphasia Center and Brain Injury Clubhouse, these programs provide a variety of health and wellness options that promote the physical, social and emotional well-being of those with differing abilities.

As a leader in physical rehabilitation, we are dedicated to conducting innovative research and investing in technology while providing world-class educational development opportunities to rehabilitation professionals. Through our Clinical Integration and Research division, we are dedicated to moving the science of rehabilitation forward.

Where We Are

Brooks currently operates in Northeast and Central Florida. We are excited to expand our reach to Arizona, with a new inpatient rehabilitation hospital located on the Mayo Clinic Phoenix campus, planned to open in 2026.
